

IN SCHOOL

Libraries should change with time to attract children

July 28, 2017 00:00 IST

Books are often considered as a man's best friend. School libraries were conventionally considered as a boring room full of books where students were supposed to spend an hour, thrice a week, without any base or aim. Time has changed and so have libraries. At our school, we organise activities that encourage students to read and review books. We have a reading hour for students from classes 1 to 12. We strongly believe that the future of Libraries lies in digitisation and we are gearing up to launch e-Granthalaya software which enables digital allotment of books to the students. We also aim to start a multimedia library.

Bharthi Kukkal,
Kendriya Vidyalaya No. 2, Delhi Cantt, New Delhi